

Joyce Varughese-Raju '98

Joyce Varughese-Raju, MD is a proud member of the Hunter College High School Class of 1998. She grew up in Staten Island and remembers her days at Hunter (if not the 2 hour commute) fondly and credits her time there for lifelong friendships.

Joyce received her undergraduate degree in Sanskrit and Indian Studies magna cum laude from Harvard College and an M.D. from Albert Einstein College of Medicine. She is currently the Medical Director of Gynecologic Oncology at Capital Health in Pennington, New Jersey where she is privileged to care for women with cancers and precancers of the gynecologic organs. Strongly believing in service to the community and equity of gynecologic cancer care worldwide, Joyce participates in Virtual Tumor Boards with trainees and colleagues in Vietnam and Uganda through the International Gynecologic Cancer Society and is an International Site Mentor for the gynecologic oncology fellowship at Uganda Cancer Institute.

A native New Yorker, Joyce presently resides in Hillsborough, New Jersey (as a compromise to her native Philadelphian husband!) with her husband and two children. She continues to enjoy running and photography (interests which were fostered while at Hunter).
